CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

W. K. VANDERBILT'S HOME IS STONED BY ARTISAN

Wood Carver Thought Residence Was "Mr. Rockefeller's," Whom He Aimed to Kill.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Carrying a leather bag filled with stones, Saebus R. Fowdres, a wood carver of Yonkers, N. Y., stopped in front of the home of William K. Vanderbilt on 5th avenue today and began to hurl stones through the windows. A policeman arrested him as he was throwing the fourth stone.

The police said Fowdres declared he believed he was throwing the stones at the home of John D. Rockefeller, whom he held responsible for the sufferings of the poor.

At the request of Mr. Vanderbilt, Fowdres was taken into the Vanderbilt home, where he talked incoherently about "vengeance" himself upon Mr. Rockefeller.

In Plot to Kill "Mr. Rockefeller."

The policeman who made the arrest said Fowdres admitted that he and a friend had plotted to kill "Mr. Rockefeller," and that his associate had promised to meet him in front of the supposed Rockefeller home. They expected, Fowdres said, that Mr. Rockefeller would come to the door when the stones were thrown through the windows, whereupon the other man was to shoot him. The alleged accomplice failed to appear, and Fowdres said he became impatient and decided to wreck the house.

Some of the furniture in the Vanderbilt home was damaged and a mirror was broken.

The man was charged with malicious mischief.

Tells Different Story.

At police headquarters Fowdres told a somewhat different story. He said he talked it over with several friends yesterday, the man was quoted by the police as saying, "and one of them—I won't give his name—said he would give me a revolver if I would shoot Rockefeller. I agreed to do that. I was to meet my friend in front of Rockefeller's house this morning, when he would give me the revolver and I would wait until Mr. Rockefeller came out. I intended to rush at him and shoot him."

When told it was Mr. Vanderbilt's house, he had attacked, Fowdres grinned and said: "You police can't fool me. I know it's Rockefeller's house."

The man was examined by a police headquarters physician, who afterward announced that Fowdres was a "dangerous man" and that he would recommend his commitment to Bellevue Hospital for observation as to his sanity.

A small stiletto was found in Fowdres' pocket.

JAPANESE MAY TAKE STEPS TO SAFEGUARD CITIZENS

Disturbances in Shantung Province, China, Discussed by Cabinet in Lengthy Session.

TOKIO, May 31.—Great interest is being shown here in the negotiations between Japan and China in regard to the revolutionary disturbances in Shantung province. The cabinet considered the situation at a lengthy session today. Government officials deny reports that it has been decided to extend the sphere in which Japanese military guards have been posted on the Chinese railroad to other points in Shantung where Japanese citizens are believed to be in danger. There is a strong opinion, however, that such a step is possible unless Peking arranges for protection of Japanese in a manner satisfactory to the imperial government.

The Japanese minister at Peking requested the Chinese government, May 29, to take proper steps for the safeguarding of Japanese lives and property in Shantung. Recent reports from this province stated that the revolutionary movement, which has already resulted in the formation of a provisional government in the south and the secession of several provinces, including Hunan and Szechuan, was making rapid headway. In almost every instance the outbreaks of the revolutionists were accompanied with anti-Japanese demonstrations.

Details of the measure, which carries a total of more than $150,000,000, already have been published.

U. S. Soldier Alleges He Was Captive for Ten Days.

EL PASO, Tex., May 31.—A story of being held captive by Carranza soldiers for ten days is told here by Corp. J. Peters of the 10th Cavalry. Peters, a negro, was taken into custody by immigration officers on the American side of the International bridge here. He said he had strayed from his command base, ten days ago, and while sleeping on a river bank was captured and bound by the Mexican soldiers.

The Carranza forces moved several times, taking Peters with them, until finally, two days ago, they reached Villa Ahumada, about eighty-three miles south of El Paso, from which point he escaped, making his way to Juarez. Gen. Bell and the local police are investigating the man's story.
